FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHANIEL P. WILLIS.

The Golden Horn and its scenery—the sultan's wives and Arabians—the Valley of Sweet Waters—beauty of the Turkish minarets—the mosque of Sulymanye—mussulmans at their devotions—the muezzin—the bazaar of the opium eaters.

The "Golden Horn" is a curved arm of the sea, the broadest extremity meeting the Bosphorus and forming the harbor of Constantinople, and the other tapering away till it is lost in the "Valley of Sweet Waters."—It curls through the midst of the "seven hilled" city, and you cross it whenever you have an errand in old Stamboul. Its hundreds of shooting caiques, its forests of merchantmen and men-of-war, its noise and its confusion are exchanged in scarce ten minutes of swift pulling for the breathless and Eden-like solitude of a valley that has not its parallel, I am enclined to think, between the Mississippi and the Caspian. It is called in Turkish khyat khana. Opening with a gentle curve from the Golden Horn, it winds away into the hills towards Belgrade, its long and even hollow, threaded by a lively stream, and carpeted by a broad belt of unbroken green sward swelling up to the enclosing hills, with a grass so verdant and silken, that it seems the very floor of faery. In the midst of its longest stretch to the eye, (perhaps two miles of level meadow,) stands a beautiful serai of the sultan's, unfenced and open, as if it had sprung from the lap of the green meadow like a lily.—The stream runs by its door, and over a mimic fall whose lip is of scolloped marble, is built an oriental kiosk, all carving and gold, that is only too delicate and fantastical for reality.

Here, with the first grass of spring, the sultan sends his fine-footed Arabians to pasture; and here come the ladies of his harem, (chosen, women and horses, for much the same class of qualities,) and in the long summer afternoons, with mounted eunuchs on the hills around, forbidding on pain of death, all approach to the sacred retreat, they venture to drop their jealous veils and ramble about in their unsunned beauty.

After a gallop of three or four miles over the broad waste table plains, in the neighbourhood of Constantinople, we checked our horses suddenly on the brow of a precipitous descent, with this scene of beauty spread out before us. I had not yet approached it by water, and it seemed to me as if the earth had burst open at my feet, and revealed some realm of enchantment. Behind me, and away beyond the valley to the very horizon, I could see only a trackless heath, brown and treeless, while a hundred feet below lay a strip of very Paradise, blooming in all the verdure and heavenly freshness of spring. We descended slowly, and crossing a bridge half-hidden by willows, rode in upon the elastic green sward, (for myself) with half a feeling of profanation. There were no eunuchs upon the hills, however, and our spirited Turkish horses threw their wild heads into the air, and we flew over the verdant turf like a troop of Delhis, the sound of the hoofs on the yielding carpet scarcely audible. The fair palace in the centre of this domain of loveliness was closed, and it was only after we had walked around it that we observed a small tent of the prophet's green couched in a small dell on the hill side, and containing probably the guard of its imperial master.

We mounted again and rode up the valley for two or three miles, following the same level and verdant curve, the soft carpet broken only by the silver thread of the Barbyses, loitering through it on its way to the sea.—A herd of buffaloes, tended by a Bulgarian boy, stretched on his back in the sunshine, and a small caravan of camels bringing wood from the hills, and keeping to the soft valley as a relief to their spongy feet, were the only animated portions of the landscape. I think I shall never form to my mind another picture of romantic rural beauty (an employment of the imagination I am much given to when out of humour with the world) that will not resemble the "Valley of Sweet Waters"—the khyat-kkana of Constantinople. "Poor Slingsby" never was here.*

The lofty mosque of Sulymanye, the bazaars of the opium-eaters, and the Timar-hane, or mad-house of Constantinople, are all upon one square in the highest part of the city. We entered the vast court of the mosque from a narrow and filthy street, and the impression of its towering plane-trees and noble area, and of the strange, but grand and costly pile in its centre, was almost devotional. An inner court, enclosed by a kind of romanesque wall, contained a sacred marble fountain of light and dry architecture, and the portico facing this was sustained by some of those splendid and gigantic columns of porphyry and jasper, the spoils of the churches of Asia Minor.†

I think the most beautiful spire that rises into the sky is the Turkish minaret. If I may illustrate an object of such magnitude by so trifling a comparison, it is exactly the shape and proportions of an ever poined pencil case—the silver bands answering to the encircled galleries, one above another, from which the muezzin calls out the hour of prayer. The minaret is painted white, the galleries are fantastically carved, and rising to the height of the highest steeples in our country, (four and sometimes six to a single mosque) these slender and pointed fingers of devotion seem to enter the very sky. Remembering, dear reader, that there are two hundred and twenty mosques, and three hundred chapels in Constantinople, raising, perhaps, in all, a thousand minarets to heaven, you may get some idea of the magnificence of this seven-hilled capital of the east.

It was near the hour of prayer, and the devout muzzulmans were thronging into the court of Sulymanye by every gate. Passing the noble doors, with their strangely carved arches of arabesque, which invite all to enter but the profaning foot of the Christian, the turbaned crowd repaired first to the fountains. From the walls of every mosque, by small conducts pouring into a marble basin, flow streams of pure water for the religious ablutions of the faithful. The muzzulman approaches, throws off his flowing robe, steps out of his yellow slippers, and unwinds his voluminous turban with devout deliberateness. A small marble step, worn hollow with pious use, supports his foot while he washes from the knee downward. His hands and arms, with the flowing sleeve of his silk shirt rolled to the shoulder, receive the same lavation, and then, washing his face, he repeats a brief prayer, resumes all but his slippers and enters the mosque barefoot.

The mihrab, (or niche, indicating the side toward the tomb of the prophet,) fixes his eye. He folds his hands together, prays a moment standing, prostrates himself flat on his face toward the hallowed quarter, rises upon his knees, and continues praying and prostrating himself for, perhaps, half an hour. And all this process is required by the mufti, and performed by every good mussulman five times a day! A rigid adherence to it is almost universal among the Turks. In what an odour of sanctity would a Christian live, who should make himself thus "familiar with heaven!"

As the muezzin from the minaret was shouting his last "meshallah!" with a voice like a man calling out from the clouds, we left the court of the majestic mosque, with Byron's reflection:

"Alas! man makes that great which makes him little!"

and, having delivered ourselves of this scrap of poetical philosophy, we crossed over the square to the opium-eaters.

A long row of half-ruined buildings, of a single story, with porticoes in front, and the broad, raised platform beneath, on which the Turks sit cross-legged at public places, is the scene of what was once a peculiarly oriental spectacle. The mufti has of late years denounced the use of opium, and the devotees to its sublime intoxication have either conquered the habit, or what is more probable, indulge it in more secret places. The shops are partly ruinous, and those that remain in order are used as cafes, in which, however, it is said that the dangerous drug may still be procured. My companion inquired of a good-humored-looking caffejee, whether there was any place at which a confirmed opium-eater could be seen under its influence. He said there was an old Turk, who was in the habit of frequenting his shop, and, if we could wait an hour or two, we might see him in the highest state of intoxication. We had no time to spare, if the object had been worth our while.

And here, thought I, as we sat down and took a cup of coffee in the half-ruined cafe, have descended upon the delirious brains of these noble drunkards, the visions of Paradise so glowingly described in books—visions, it is said, as far exceeding the poor invention of the poet, as the houris of the prophet exceed the fair damsels of this world. Here men, otherwise in their senses, have believed themselves emperors, warriors, poets—these wretched walls and bending roof the fair proportions of a palace—this gray old caffejee a Hylas or a Ganymede. Here men have come to cast off, for an hour, the dull thraldom of the body—to soar into the glorious world of fancy at a penalty of a thousand times the proportion of real misery—to sacrifice the invaluable energies of health, and deliberately poison the very fountain of life, for a few brief moments of magnificence and phrenzied blessedness. It is powerfully described in the "Opium-Eater" of De Quincy.

* Irving says, in one of his most exquisite passages:—"He who has sallied forth into the world like poor Slingsby, full of sunny anticipations, finds too soon how different the distant scene becomes when visited. The smooth place roughens as he approaches; the wild place becomes tame and barren; the fairy tints that beguiled him on, still fly to the distant hill, or gather upon the land he has left behind, and every part of the landscape is greener than the spot he stands on." Full of music and beautiful expression as this is, I, for one, have not found it true. Bright as I had imagined the much-sung lands beyond the water, I have found many a scene in Italy and the east that has more than answered the craving for beauty in my heart. Val d'Arno, Vallombrosa, Venice, Terni, Tivoli, Albano, the Isle of Greece, the Bosphorus, and the matchless Valley I have described, have, with a hundred other spots less famous, far outgone in their exquisite reality, even the brightest of my anticipations. The passage is not necessarily limited in its meaning to scenery, however, and of moral disappointment it is beautifully true. There is many a "poor Slingsby," the fate of whose sunny anticipations of life it describes but too faithfully.

† Sulymanye was built of the ruins of the church, Saint Euphemia, at Chalcedonia.

In offering these Stoves to the public, they think proper to say, that having made and sold, between six and seven hundred within the last two years, they can now declare, upon the fullest testimony of those who have used them, that they combine more advantages than any others now in use. They are so constructed, that you can boil in three places and bake at the same time. They have a large hearth convenient for roasting; a good oven combining all the advantages of a brick one, and also, of a common bake-kettle; consume but a small quantity of fuel, and are perfectly free from smoking. In addition to their former patterns they have a smaller size, to which in point of economy and convenience, for small families, there are none considered superior. They request those who may be in want of Cooking Stoves to call and examine for themselves.

The outrages committed previous to, and at the time of the late election in Philadelphia, demand the serious consideration of every well wisher to his country. It has been the practice of the opposition to ridicule the right of suffrage for some time past, and by endeavoring to bring it into contempt they have encouraged a spirit of lawless violence which has led to general tumult and to murder. To similar violations of of law was the country invited last winter, repeatedly—an hundred thousand men, it was said, should be raised and marched to Washington to seize upon the Government—that redress could never be had through the ballot box, which was sneeringly described as the "Wooden Sceptre of the People," &c. In one of the Philadelphia Wards, at the last election, Bankites, belonging to another part of the city, among whom were several city office-holders, blocked up the window where the votes were polled, in order to deprive the democrats of the privilege of voting, and retained their position through the day; in Moyamensing, where the democrats were shot down, the Bankites stored a house, some time previous to the election, with the fire arms which were used upon the occasion. The building of the U. S. Bank was filled with armed men during the night following the day of election, and the muskets belonging to the prison, loaded with ball cartridges, were conveyed to the Mayor's office, the head quarters of the Bank party! Is it not evident, from these circumstances, that the supporters of the Bank are willing to effect by force what they cannot accomplish otherwise, and that the lives and liberties of citizens are unsafe where they possess power? The corruptions of the Bank are not more alarming than its acts of violence—it appears to be determined to rule the country by the one or the other, and the issue is now at hand which will decide whether the power lies in the hands of the people and the laws of the land, or in an irresponsible corporation—corrupt, profligate, treacherous.

A most excellent spirit appears to pervade the democratic party throughout the country, and especially in New York and Pennsylvania. In New York City on Wednesday evening last, an immense meeting of the democratic young men took place. "We had," says the Post, "an opportunity of surveying the whole vast assemblage from an elevated position, and a more gratifying spectacle has seldom claimed our attention. Such a collection of young, ardent, active republicans, all moved by one common sentiment, all animated by one spirit, all earnest and strenuous in support of the great republican principles and measures of the present national and state administration, is certainly calculated to add greatly to the sanguine and confident feelings with which the democracy of this city are preparing for the approaching contest."

"The meeting was organized by the unanimous selection of WILLIAM VAN WYCK as President, and the appointment of the gentleman whose names are subscribed to the annexed proceedings as Vice Presidents and Secretaries. General P. M. WETMORE, Chairman of the delegation from New York to the Herkimer Young Men's Convention, rose and presented the report of the proceedings of that body. In a few well expressed and apposite remarks, introductory to the business for which the meeting had been convened, General Wetmore took occasion to allude to the glorious victory of the democracy in Philadelphia, and commented in terms which drew a deep and solemn response from the whole assembled multitude, on the unprecedented outrage which marked the close of the contest in that city with the blood of democrats, sacrificed by the ferocious fury of the partizans of the Bank. It gave us sincere gratification to hear the eloquent speaker allude to this bloody and unpardonable transaction in terms calculated and intended, not to arouse a spirit of retaliation, but to calm and tranquilize the minds of his auditors. While he exhorted all within compass of his voice to maintain and exercise their rights with the firmness becoming freemen, he at the same time implored them to show the forbearance and mildness which became their characters as democrats and friends of public order, and their feelings as men.—'Let us revenge the atrocious outrage commited upon our brethren of Philadelphia,' said he, in reply to what seemed the purport of a deep murmur which ran through the assembly—'but let us revenge the outrage through the ballot-boxes!—let us wield no weapons but our suffrages!' The tremendous and unanimous burst of applause, intermingled with loud and frequent cries of 'We will!' we will!' which rung throughout the spacious hall, in answer to this sentiment of the speaker, attested at once the spirit of firmness and of moderation by which the democracy of this city have so nobly distinguished themselves in former contests."

POLICE COURT.

A crazy Caper, but no Joke.—Thirteen days ago, a Mrs Daley came into court, exceeding wroth, and tremulous with anger, against her son Thomas Daley, who she accused of having stolen fifty dollars from her, which she had recently drawn out of the Saving's Bank. As Daley was at that moment under arrest for playing at unlawful games on the Back Bay, there was no doubt on the minds of those present, that he had also robbed his poor old mother, but in consequence of the absence of supposed important witnesses, the case was continued, from time to time, till yesterday, when Daley was formally arraigned for trial. During the preliminary stages of the examination, the squalid and decrepid Mrs Daley seated herself on the court house stairs, where rocking herself from side to side, and wringing her withered hands, in agony of soul, she bemoaned most piteously the fate of her "nice bit of a bi"—(apparently thirty years of age)—who was so cruelly confined in jail, "by the murtherous policifers." In due time, she took the stand, enveloped in a murky rob-roy, and with her dishevelled tresses partly streaming in the air, and partly obscured by a brown chip hat, fastened upon her head, by a dingy pocket handkerchief, which passed over the crown, and tied beneath her chin. Without waiting for the oath to be administered, she raised both her fleshless hands, the blue shrivelled skin shining like fish scales, and pointing her hunger-bitten fingers to her beautiful "bi," in the harsh tones of a maniac, she vehemently exonerated him from all participation in the robbery—and assured the court that she was insane, when she made the complaint. Whatever might have been the state of her mind at the time she made her complaint, there could be no doubt, from her wild gestures, and glaring black eyes, that she was now a Bedlamite, and Master Thomas was discharged, after laying in jail thirteen days, under the accusation.

Daley was then put on trial for the gambling on the Back-Bay, on Muster day, and it was admitted by his counsel, that he did then and there play all fours, for money. The counsel, however, contended, that if Daley was convicted on the charge, the only punishment fixed by the statute was "ineligibility to any office of honor or profit, in the Commonwealth, jor one year!"—"A very severe penalty, to be sure, considering Mister Thomas Daley's chance for the favor and votes of his fellow citizens," continued Mr Counsel, eyeing, with a singularly sarcastic squint, the prepossessing phiz and figure of his client, who blushed blue to the tips of his ears, and hung down his head in acknowledgment of the complimentary satire in disguise.

The court, however, was of opinion, that depriving Daley of the right of holding an office of honor and profit, painful as such disfranchisement must be felt by him, would not satiate the offended majesty of the law, and he was therefore sentenced to one day's imprisonment, in addition to the thirteen already suffered by him.

☞ Yesterday, at 12 o'clock, a GRAND SALUTE OF ONE HUNDRED AND ONE GUNS was fired in this city, in honor of the splendid triumphs of the Democratic party, in the States of PENNSYLVANIA, NEW JERSEY and GEORGIA.

Poisoning.—A girl by the name of Elizabeth Franklin was examined before the proper tribunal in Princess Anne County (Va.) on the 6th inst. on the charge of poisoning the family of Daniel Grimstead, Jr. in which she lived as a servant. It seems she had a quarrel with Mr G. and had left his house, declaring that he would be "no better off" for what he had said of her. Some beef had been cooked the day before, of which the family, prior to the dispute, had partaken without injury. It was replaced on the fire, and was in that situation when the quarrel commenced. The family partook of it again after the quarrel, and all who had done so, were similarly affected with violent symptoms, such as vomiting, &c. and in a manner resembling the cholera. Mr Grimstead died in consequence, but the rest of the family recovered. No post mortem examination took place, nor was the contents ejected from the stomachs of the patients analyzed—but the impression of the attending physician was that they had been poisoned. The prisoner was remanded, and bail refused.

The Editors of the Atlas, nominal and real, Lawyers, Merchants, and embryo Divines, denounce every thing which appears in the Post, long or short; and as we find it impossible to win the favorable opinion of those whose esteem is so essential to our happiness, all we can do to propitiate their wrath, is to offer to take the cartridges they purchased to fire in honor of their expected New Jersey triumph at first cost.

A big 'un in a small way.—The Bank papers in Connecticut are endeavoring to father their recent defeat in that State upon the "remissness of the whigs in not turning out"—when the truth is they have never given so large a vote in State since the adoption of their Constitution in 1817.

Governor Dunlap, of Maine, has nominated Judge Weston, of Augusta, to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, and Nicholas Emery, Esq., of Portland, Associate Justice.

The Hon. Mr Forsyth, Secretary of State, is on a visit to Charleston, S. C.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Fellow Citizens—By reason of a statement in the Morning Post, signed Seth Thaxter and Seth Thaxter, Jr., or purporting to be so, I am compelled to appear before you again. They say they believe my statement to be false, as regards Mr Ellis. They have a right to their belief in that respect, as in all others. They further say they "believe Mr Ellis was entirely ignorant of my political character." This assertion is entirely gratuitous, as I have said nothing about Ellis discharging me for "political character" or opinions. It is true, he might have supposed that my opinion was, that it was not politic in him to sell improper lumber to the city; and will, probably, find that opinion correct before this investigation ends. But the Thaxters continue to say, "but he (Luther) was discharged for not doing his duty on the work." Now, if they intend to say that I was discharged for that reason, I pronounce it, not a deliberate falsehood, for I am satisfied they did not deliberate when they signed an instrument which if true in its assertions, must place them in a situation far from enviable in the eyes of this community. I pronounce it to be a falsehood if it refers to my duty in performing work for the city. The Thaxters themselves will thank me for proving the last assertion, and they will see the necesity of acknowledging that they signed that paper under an excitement produced by my statement in the Post. Now for the reasons. Thaxter & Hollis paid me $45,00 in Sept. last, for work done on the Franklin school house—wages $1,50, Nov. 28, last, paid me $68,09, same wages—January 11, $21,28—when I say paid on such a day, I refer to the closing of the different accounts. Why was I employed at these different times if I "did not do my duty on the work?" Was it to befriend me? Is this a sufficient excuse for employing an unfaithful hand? If the Thaxters' employ undutiful hands, and charge full price, what is the inference? I need not name it.—That they have employed me under this state of things is susceptible of proof, full and convincing. I am now supposing their statement true. On Ellis's discharging me from the bridge, Thaxter & Hollis continued to employ me at $1,50 per day, and I worked for them on Mr Prince's house, Front street, and assisted Seth Thaxter, Sen. himself to shingle a house for Mr Stedman, in Elliot street. If I was discharged "for neglect of duty" on the bridge, why did the Thaxters do their customers injustice by continuing to employ me?

When I was discharged on the School House by Ellis's orders they continued to employ me as before, undutiful as I was. The Thaxters can take either horn of the dilemma they please, either their statement is untrue or they have been in the habit of employing a man who "does not do his duty on the work," and thereby wronging the city and individual customers. Which horn will they take—if their statement is true, respecting the reasons of my discharge they must stand out in bold relief as dishonest men, according to their own showing, dishonest in employing a hand from time to time who does not "do his duty on the work." But I do not believe them to be dishonest men, and must come to the conclusion that they have been induced by Ellis to sign the statement without reflection, under great excitement; to screen him they have it is true, as it seems, made an attempt to sacrifice me. To bolster up Ellis they have done this! But I trust in God that they will not succeed in crushing me. I have no quarrel with them and have never said any thing except in Seth Thaxters favor either in public or private. My business is with Ellis and even the name of the Thaxters shall not shield him from the public censure. I boldly and fearlessly assert that if I can be placed in a situation to compel witnesses to give oath and have the power to produce persons and papers, I will prove Ellis to be guilty of mal-administration in his office of Alderman of this city. He has discharged me for objecting to the lumber sold by him. He has threatened a man who worked on the School House in conjunction with Thaxter last winter with a discharge as I am informed, because he went to Heath Wharf and purchased lumber in the place of some sent up by Ellis which was not proper to use. I believe this to be true and will produce the evidence if required. Ellis may rest assured that he will not crush me although he may add insult to injury; and the public may be sure that the matter is not half ended yet nor will it be, till the Tyrant is ordered through the Ballot box to retire to private life, where he will not trample on his fellow citizens in his official capacity, taking their bread from their mouths to gratify his revenge and spite, and insult them by his sneers as he has done. SETH LUTHER.

October 20, 1834.

For the Boston Morning Post.

Having seen a paragraph in the Morning Post of the 17th inst., relating to "two female witnesses," in the reported proceedings of the trials pending at Cambridge, implicating an individual, in which the Attorney General is made to say, that Sophia Emory had "absconded upon the instigation of an individual who acted as a friend to one of the prisoners," I deem it an act of justice to myself, and my brother, (who has, in the Morning Post of Saturday last, acquitted himself of any participation in the matter,) to make a full statement of facts, as they occurred at the time, and leave it to the public to judge whether this "individual" has acted the part of a friend to any of the prisoners, not one of whom he ever saw, to his knowledge.

Some time in the latter part of September last, as I was passing down Hancock street, I was accosted by a a young man, who said that a girl in the house wished to see me, and on going towards the door, this "witness" (Sophia Emory, whose name I did not know at the time, and with whom I previously never had any conversation, to my recollection,) opened the door, and said that she wished to converse with me a few moments. The substance of the conversation was as follows:—

Said she, I have been summoned to Court, and wish to know what I must do, as I have made arrangements to go to visit my parents, and do not wish to attend again, as I have been to Concord once already. I replied that if she was under bonds it would not do to go away—upon which she said she was not. I then told her that it depended upon the amount of evidence she should give. If it was of any importance, "it would not do for her to go unless she returned when called for." She told me then, that all she knew about the case was this—the next morning after the burning of the Convent, a person came in, and was asked by one of the inmates of the house, "where the fire was?" He said "it was at Charlestown—the Convent was burnt, and he was there." This, she said, was all she recollected to have heard him say, as he was talking with another person. I then told her, that as she had been once to Court, and they had got her evidence, it seemed to me to be of so little consequence, that I thought she never would be troubled again, and if it was my case, I should not hesitate to go and make my visit. No injunction of secrecy was laid upon our conversation.

I further state that I have no knowledge of any person, or persons, engaged, or charged with being engaged in the burning of the Convent.

I submit this statement to my friends and the public, and leave it to them to decide whether I have countenanced any breach of propriety or law; and by their decision I am willing to stand or fall.

P. S. Editors of newspapers, who have given publicity to the reported proceedings in relation to the "two witnesses," will confer a favor by inserting the above.

WILLIAM SMITH.

A Veteran.—Sergeant Andrew Wallace, aged 105 years, yesterday appeared at the Custom House to dispose of the portrait of himself, the picture of a former age! He was born at Inverness, (Scotland) in 1730, arrived in this country, entered the army of the Revolution, continued in service for 30 years, engaged in a number of actions, escaped the massacre of Paoli, and at Brandywine, where Lafayette was wounded, rescued him from his perilous situation, and on his back bore him to the house of a friend two miles distant. He is hale and healthy in appearance, and looks much younger than his age warrants.—N. Y. Star.

Foreign Summary.

The Language of Colors.—The Moral Dress of Man according to Colors.—First, the cap ought to be scarlet, which signifies prudence; the hat Persian color, which indicates science, as a sign that science comes from God in heaven, which heaven is Persian color, and thus science will be near prudence. The doublet should be black, that indicates the magnanimity of courage, which ought always to enclose the heart and body of a man; the gloves yellow, denote liberality; the belt violet, signifies love and courtesy; the cloak must be of a dark tawny color, showing grief and sadness, with which we are always clothed.

The Moral Dress of a Lady according to Colors.—First, whether lady or damsel, she ought to have black shoes, to indicate simplicity: which teaches ladies they ought to walk untainted by pride: the lady, of whatever sphere of life, ought to wear black and white garters, which denote her firm intention to persevere in virtue, as white and black never change naturally. After these things the petticoat ought to be white, to denote the honesty and chastity that ought to be in a woman; and the apron should be crimson, as the symbol of good thoughts directed towards God. Lastly, the robe for a titled lady should be gold cloth, which represents a good deportment, for as gold pleases the sight of most people, so the good deportment of a lady is the cause of her pleasing. Here we have garments pourtraying a perfect moral, but will our age find them gallant enough, will they not inspire our belles with alarm? in a word, will fashion ever dare to present them with dresses that will surround them with such severe virtues? This is what we venture to affirm; we always boast of the good qualities of our fathers, yet we never try to imitate them.—The Language of Flowers.

Considerate Notice.—There is a sign-board on the turnpike house at the entrance to the Frome Road, at Warminster, with the following inscription:—"Poor Travellers will please take notice, that Frome is not on the direct road to Bath. Persons applying for assistance will not be relieved, but committed to prison."

Some short time ago, a prosecutor, bountifully furnished with whiskers, applied to the court over which Mr Justice P. presided, for his expences. "I wont grant your expences," replied the Judge; "I am astonished you should ask for your expences—a man with such whiskers! Never saw such whiskers in my life—Sir, your whiskers are disgraceful—they're indecent—the court wont grant your expences to a man who wears such whiskers—shameful—scandalous!"—Bath Guardian.

A person visiting the London Museum was shown the skull of Oliver Cromwell.

'It is extremely small,' said the visitor.

'Bless you, sir,' said the cicerone, 'it was his skull when he was a little boy.'

Anecdote.—A corpulent physician somewhere in N. Hampshire, whose gastric bump exceeded in bulk all his phrenological bumps together, and whose character for veracity was no better than its should be, called at a tavern one sultry morning in August, and swaggering up to the bar, was accosted by the landlord with the usual salutation of "Good morning, doctor—what's the news to-day?"

"Hot weather—very hot indeed," replied the doctor, wiping the sweat from his brow with his bandanna.

"I should think," said the landlord, "you had been exercising—you sweat profusely."

"Sweat—yes, I sweat like a negro under oath—my son harnessed the horse, and I have visited sixteen patients this morning; and sir, I'll take a glass of your best wine."

A decanter was placed before him, and he engulphed a tumbler of its contents filled to the brim, and handed the landlord a York shilling, and was about departing, when he was requested to return and take his change.

"Why, sir, I thought ninepence a glass was your price for wine," said the M. D.

"It is sir," replied the host, "when we retail it, but when we sell by wholesale we charge only six and a quarter cents a pint, and that makes a four-pence ha'-penny your due."—Lowell Jour.

It looks well for the Bank partisans to complain of a free use of the franking privilege, when at this very moment, DANIEL WEBSTER is literally flooding New Hampshire with the ELECTIONEERING SPEECH he delivered in this town to the Sam Bell dinner, all bearing his frank: and yet the Boston Daily Advertiser thinks it monstrous that Mr Hill should "lend his franking privilege for a party purpose." Is Mr Webster's speech less a party document than Mr Hill's circular? But it is terrible "corruption" for Mr Hill to frank an electioneering document, in the opinion of the Bank aristocrats, whilst it is perfectly proper for Mr Webster to do so.—N. H. Pat.

SMMMER STREET
FRENCH AND MUSIC ACADEMY.

MONS. P. C. LOUVRIER respectfully informs the inhabitants of this city, that he has opened an Academy at No 6 Summer street, for instructing Young Ladies and Gentlemen in the French Language, on the Pianoforte, and in Singing.
To those unacquainted with his qualifications as an Instructor, Mr L. may be allowed briefly to state with respect to the French Language, that he was born and educated in Paris, where in his intercourse with the most respectable society, he cultivated and matured those principles of pronunciation and diction which have not only enabled him to give to his pupils such practical directions as have proved eminently successful, but also have procured him the satisfaction of seeing them sanctioned by the best French authority, as they are in perfect accordance with those laid down in the celebrated works of Messrs de Wailly, which is adopted by the University of France as a standard for its public schools and colleges—and with respect to Music, that for a series of years he enjoyed the benefit of a regular and systematic instruction under one of the best masters; whom during Mr L's late residence in Paris, he found to be still an eminent professor at one of the four Royal Colleges of that Capital.
Mr L engages to teach his native language and the art of music, in a pure, chaste, and classic style, and to impart to the minds of his pupils such knowledge as shall at the time of their leaving off, furnish them with the best means of improving upon what they have learned, and in most cases preclude the necessity of resorting to further instruction.
Pupils sufficiently advanced in music will occasionally be accompanied by Mr L. on the violin, to improve their performance in point of time, musical effect and expression.
The instruction will be given in classes and private lessons at the Academy, or at the residence of the pupils.
Terms may be known by applying at the Academy, or at Mr L's residence, No 256 Washington street.
Relying as he cheerfully does on the discriminating judgment of an enlightened community, Mr L would be wanting in duty to them and to his friends were he not to avail himself of the favor conferred upon him by being allowed to refer to

Hon Chief Justice Shaw, " Judge Putnam, " Theodore Lyman, Mayor of the city of Boston, Hon John Pickering,	in Boston.	Hon Nath'l Sillsbee, " D. Pickman, J. Peabody, Esq, Hon D. L. Pickman, " L. Saltonstall, & J. Forester, Esq,	in Salem.

And in Cambridge, Rev Thos. W. Coit.
☞ Mr L. would also engage to translate any legal or other papers from the French Language into English with the requisite accuracy eopis1w&2awos2w—o 16

A. WATKINS, THOMSONIAN BOTANIC PHYSICIAN—Infirmary, Harvard street, (opposite 499 Washington street,) Boston—Has been acquainted with and possessed of a right to use Dr. Samuel Thomson's Patent Vegetable Medicine, for the last 21 years, and administered them in Europe, and South and North America, (including the West India Islands,) and with as much success as any other can, (with truth,) boast of. In the nine months' practice he has had at the Harvard street Infirmary, he has not had the misfortune to lose ONE patient, although many of them had been for years in the hands of the members of the Medical Faculty, and some of them abandoned to their (supposed) hopeless fate. As he is so well known in Boston, it is unnecessary to enter very largely into a detail of success. The following are a few o his patients:—

Stephen Gore, (inquire at Thomas Holland's Beach street, Boston,) totally blind for about 5 months, one eye, nearly destroyed, general debility, legs swollen and lame—appeared completely charged with poisons. General health restored; eye sight good—could see to read (without glasses) in 5 courses, &c. better than he could for seven years previous.

Mr. Parker, now assistant at the Infirmary, rheumatism and dyspepsia, cured in 3 courses.

Francis Kenlo, 153 Court street, Boston, severe indigestion and spasms, cured in four courses, &c.

Thomas Pierson, of Roxbury, and keeps a stall in the new Market, Boston,) erysipelas in the face and one eye; leg very much swollen and ulcerated from the knee to the ancle for the last 25 years—attended by many physicians; nearly cured in 5 weeks

Miss Charlotte Pierson, do. white swelling, with loss of appetite, &c. under medical treatment 5 months, and unable to walk—cured in 3 weeks.

Jesse Brown, baker, of Roxbury, rheumatis and retrocedent gout; stomach, knees, ancles and toes greatly affected; has been confined to bed nine weeks—cured in 4 courses, &c.

Miss A. Brown, his daughter, scrofula or king's evil, cured with 4 courses, &c.

J. D. Smith, of Lexington, dyspepsia, ofseveral years continuance—cured in 3 courses, &c.

Samuel Hawes, of Weymouth, rheumatism in the back, strictures in the urinary passage, general emaciation, &c.—cured in 6 courses, &c.

S. Smith, calico printer, of Lynn, pain in the stomach and back, and strictures across the breast, &c.—cured in 2 courses.

—— Toll, of Shepard street, Lynn, fits and severe cholic, from indigestion—cured in 2 days!

Benj. Morgan, of Salem, cancerous or scorbutic humors, head ulcerated, debility and loss of flesh; piles severe, and unable to dress or undress himself for a considerable time—cured with 5 courses, &c.

Joseph Kerrier, of Salem, rheumatism in his shoulders and arms—cured in 2 courses, &c.

Sarah Town, of Andover, indigestion, severe pains throughout the system, and piles—cured with 3 courses, &c.

Mrs Lucinda Kerr, Sea street, Boston, salt rheum; top of the head one entire scab—cured in 4 courses, &c.

A. W. cannot be at the expense to enumerate more cases, at present. He has not named cases of fevers, they are almost too ephemeral in the hands of a physician acquainted with his duty—the ignoramus or continued fever, is unknown in the practice of such. Delicacy will not not permit the naming of several diseases, which he has treated with universal success. In almost all the cases of diseases which have been treated by him, he has been under the necessity to expel not only the disease, but the poisons which produced and continued them—and all with INNOCENT and HARMLESS SIMPLES.

This practice induces him to believe he is not too bold in saying, the Thomsonian treatment removes both disease and the poisons af the Medical Faculty from the human system, when resorted to in seasonable time.

For Medicine, Family Rights to use the same, Robinson's ectures, &c. at the usual prices, apply as above, of

ANDREW WATKINS,
Agent for Dr. SAM'L THOMSON

IRON SAFES.—S. A. & W. G. PIERCE, Agents for selling Gaylor's Patent Double Fire Proof Wrought Iron Chests and Safes, 370 Washington-street, have now on hand a large assortment, comprising all the sizes and kinds which are calculated for the use of Banks, Insurance Offices, Town Records, Merchants, and others.

The above Chests are double throughout in all their parts, with double doors, each secured with Chubb's Patent Detector Locks, which cannot be picked; and the Chests are as completely Fire Proof as any vault or chest can be made. Proof of which can be seen by those who will take the trouble to call at the Agent's Store and examine a Double Chest which has passed through a very severe fire, and preserved a valuable lot of books and papers, belonging to John S. Abbott, Esq., whose name is attached to the following certificate:

"This is to certify, that one of the above described Double Safes, which I purchased of the Messrs. S. A. & W. G. Pierce was in my office in this town when the office was burned on the 2d day of November last—the building was of two stories, wooden, and large. The Safe, weighing 700 lbs. fell from the second story into the cellar, and was exposed to an intense heat for nearly three hours. It was for a long time literally red hot. It contained all the account books, notes, and court-papers, that were in my office; and no paper was in the least degree burnt or rendered illegible. JOHN S. ABBOTT.

Thomaston, January 8th, 1834."

The above Chest, and some of the papers which were in it at the time of the fire, are now at the Agents' store, corner of Essex and Washington streets, and any individual or corporation who are about purchasing Iron Safes for the protection of their books and papers, will find it for their advantage to call and examine them, and they will be perfectly satisfied that Gaylor's Double Safes are what they are represented to be—FIRE PROOF! and they will be still further satisfied that none other but the Double Safe would stand a severe fire.

Gaylor's Double Safes are a Patent article, and can only be legally purchased in this city of S. A. & W. G. PIERCE, who are his authorized Agents. tf—jan 31

FOSTER invites those who desire an effectual remedy for the dangerous and distressing disease of RUPTURE, to call at his office, No. 383 Washington street, in rooms over the Roxbury Dye House office, (at the sign of the Eagle and Truss) where he is in constant attendance, to adapt his Trusses to the particular case of the patient, as Successor to Mr Beath.

Separate rooms will be provided, so that three or four individuals calling at the same time will not be interrupted.

It is the oldest establishment of the kind in the State—Mr B. having followed the business for more than thirty years—during half of which time Mr Foster has been making them on Mr Beath's plan, and others of approved kinds. Although not followed it steadily and exclusively, he has made them for himself 15 years past, and for individuals who he is at liberty to refer to. Mr F. having been severely afflicted with the disease himself, since the age of 12 years, considers himself as possessing a thorough knowledge of the business. All Trusses made and sold by him, will be warranted to keep the protruded parts within the cavity of the abdomen.

Among the variety of Trusses made by Mr Foster, are Patent Elastic Spring Trusses, with Spring Pads;—Trusses without steel springs; these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a perfect cure. They can be worn day and night. Improved Hinge and Pivot Trusses, Umbilical Spring Trusses, and Trusses with Ball and Socket joints.—Trusses for Polapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled in that way, can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answhred in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensary Trusses, Knee Caps, and Common Trusses are kept always on hand, charged at the lowest prices. Machines for remedying deformities.

Mr F. wil wait on individuals at their houses when preferred—he takes measure of infants at any age, and makes Trusses for both double and single ruptures, which may be worn without pain or inconvenience, and which in many cases will produce a perfect cure, in the space of six or twelve weeks, in such little children; he has had occasion to make a number of late, the Fathers and Mothers of which he will refer to, as well as the Physicians by whom they were recommended to Mr Foster.

Individuals purchasing Trusses of the subscriber, which fail in answering the desired purpose, are respectfully invited to call and exchange them for those that will, and for which there will be no extra charge.

Surgeon's Instruments, and Trusses repaired at the Manufactory.

POSITIVE, OR NO PAY.—Mrs. Hill's Cough Drops, or Vegetable Health Restorative.—Prepared entirely from Vegetables.

More than forty years have now elapsed since the receipt was given me by my uncle, a celebrated Physician, at a time that I was troubled with a very bad cough and cold. After taking one dose, I found immediate relief, and a few doses cured me entirely; the effects were astonishing quick, and the numerous instances of the wonderful efficacy of these drops on different people, has induced me to put them up in Phials, with directions, under the impression it would be a public benefit. And as that is my sole aim—and to convince the public that is all, and as a sure guarantee against quackery and deception, I authorise my agents to return the money to all those that do not get relief by their returning the bottle and directions. The relief and absolute cure, particularly of those numerous and complicated disorders arising from neglected colds, is amply attested by the acknowledged approbation of those who are now restored to perfect health, as well as many in the decline of life who frankly acknowledge having received great relief from the use of them in the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Hooping Cough, Difficulty of Breathing, Influenza, Quinsea, Phthisic, Croup, and all disorders arising from colds. Price 37½ cents per bottle.

For sale wholesale and retail by J. P. Hall, Jr. sole agent, No. 1 Union street, corner of Elm street; Asahel Boyden, Hancock street; Charles Holbrook, Leverett street; E. S. Holden, corner of Beacon and Charles streets; A. Geyer, Hanover st.; John White, Jr. School st.

INDIGESTION, JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS. ANDERSON'S VEGETABLE ELIXIR, for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice and Bilious Complaints; weakness of the Stomach and Bowels, and consequent loss of appetite; nervous complaints, headach, sour stomach, flatulence and habitual costiveness.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances, is perfectly safe in its operation, and may be given to children or persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of inconvenience.

The uniform success which has attended the use of it where it has been extensively used, in Boston and various other parts of the United States, and in the West Indies, attested by disinterested and highly respectable persons, affords, next to a trial of the medicine itself, the best commentary upon its virtues, and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain attended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours, completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very valuable medicine.

It has been found singularly efficacious in cases of the most obstinate headache.

It is put up in large bottles containing a pound and a half: and sold at seventy-five cents each, by Jonathan P. Hall, Jr., No. 1, Union street, John P. Whitwell, Milk street, John I. Brown, near Boylston Market, Erastus S. Holden, near the Western Avenue, Richard A. Newell, Summer street, Boston; Samuel Kidder & Co. Charlestown, E. G. Lemon, Roxbury.

Those spacious premises have been fitted up with great expense, at the corner of Lynde and Cambridge streets, and other places have been purchased to be fitted up as auxiliary establishments. RODGERS' IMPERIAL STOCKS.
6 Joy's Building, up stairs.
[Opposite the Post Office, Boston.]

WILLIAM H. ROGERS, most respectfully invites the attention of Merchant Tailors and the public generally, to his new invented Imperial Stocks for the Neck, which for ease and elegance very far surpass every thing of the kind hitherto manufactured in this vicinity. They are cut scientifically; the materials and manner of making are quite different from those in common use, and they may be covered many times, and retain exactly the same shape as when first made. W. H. R. requests permission to enumerate the usual faults in the common Stocks, viz: 1st, the very inferior materials used; 2d, their sitting away from the chin and exposing the neck, when disagreeably close at the bottom; 3d, the edge at the top being uncomfortably tight, as to cause a distortion of the features by moving the head; 4th, that of their bulging out at the sides, by moving the head a little downwards, which has a most distasteful appearance. By W. H. Rogers' deservedly admired and extensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely obviated. Naval and military gentlemen will find them the most pleasing and durable. Made to order of any texture, by the dozen or single, at the lowest cash prices. Ladies' Riding Stocks beautifully made to order. tf—july 23

INDESTRUCTIBLE WRITING INK.—It is known that Chlorine or Solution of Potash, when passed with a feather of a quill over Writing, will destroy it, and one may again write on the same place so as to change the date, sum or condition of any written agreement.

This valuable Ink cannot be destroyed by time or chemical process, as experienced by several professional Chemists.

This Ink has also been highly approved of by all the Professors of Bowdoin College, and the certificate of Professor Cleaveland, a distinguished chemist is hereto annexed:

PURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock-st.

As in all cases, so especially in this, Venders, if they wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counteract rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Boyden. aug 15
